ACT ONE

EXT. LAKE SHORE - DAY

Woman tells Kenny off, I thought we were gonna have some fun, I didn't realize you invited me out here to try and sell me your Jet Ski. She storms off.

Kenny stashes the jet ski under some brush and makes note of where he hid it, writing a cryptic treasure map or something.

EXT. TOWN MAIN DRAG - DAY

Kenny is stopped at a light. Sees April get out of her car up the way and go into a store.

Kenny pulls over and parks. Hops out and is confronted with a local Little League Coach. The coach makes a little chit chat that Kenny uh-hus to and then starts telling him about the Little League Allstar Game that is tomorrow and how seeing Kenny out here gave him the idea to ask Kenny to be the Umpire for the game. It would really mean a lot to the kids and the fans. Kenny tells the guy to suck it. No way no how is Kenny Powers lending his celebrity endorsement to anything for less than ten thousand dollars. So if they got ten grand he'll show up. Do you have ten grand? No, then get the fuck out of my face.

April exits the first store and quickly ducks into the store next to it.

Kenny pushes past the coach and follows April into the store.

INT. SEX SHOP - DAY

April is trying to exchange a vibrator that stopped working. Yeah it has been used but she just got it last week, there is a thirty day warranty. Kenny busts in and can't help but lay into April about exchanging a broken dildo when all she has to do is pick up the phone and call Kenny. He is relentless and she finally blurts out that it is her fiance the principal who likes the vibrator. Kenny then starts to rip on him even more and April finishes her exchange and storms out.

INT. KENNY'S BROTHER'S HOUSE - DAY

Kenny enters and his brother asks him how the sale went. Can he see the money, I don't think I've seen that big a wad of cash before. The money is in escrow. It is standard practice for a transaction like this. So they get the jet ski before you get the money? No they hold the jet ski and the money at the same time. It is a special escrow just for holding jet skis. Really? You've never sold a jet ski before, so how would you know the intimate details of the negotiating process. So it will be like a month or so before I can kick in on the bills. Kenny tells his brother about April. Brother says maybe Kenny should do something that will score some points with April. Like helping homeless people or old people or being a mentor for kids. Kenny thinks that is a great fucking idea and realizes he already has the perfect thing. The little league all star game. Dials the phone and the coach picks up. Tells him he has decided after much debate and against the wishes of his image management team he has decided to umpire the all star game pro bono, how does that make you fucking feel?

ACT TWO

EXT. LITTLE LEAGUE BALL PARK - DAY

Kenny ump's the game. Things start off a bit rocky when Kenny sees the big tittied woman from the Jet Ski scene in the stands and makes a lewd remark to one of the kids. Turns out that woman is the kid's mom.

But things get better. April and the Principal are in the stands of course and Kenny really seems to be having a good time and bonding with the kids as well. Maybe stopping between innings to take some pictures with fans as well.

But then the 7th inning stretch comes and Kenny pounds a couple beers and does a couple lines of coke behind the dumpster with that kid's mom...then he bones her. f

Kenny returns to the field and blows the first call. Gets into an argument with the kid and throws him out of the game. The manager comes out to argue and Kenny ends up throwing him out of the game. The other manager come out from the other team and Kenny has had enough of this horse shit and clocks the other manager before he can open his mouth. The two benches clear and a brawl ensues.

ACT THREE

EXT. LITTLE LEAGUE BALL PARK - DAY

At the post game awards ceremony, Kenny presents the sportsmanship award to a kid with one black eye and a busted lip.

Kenny apologizes to April for the scene. Makes a plea for April to not marry the Principal. April rejects him.

Kenny admits to his friend that he probably shouldn't have had that 2nd line at the seventh inning stretch.

A guy comes up to Kenny with an AllStar #55 Tony Texas jersey for Kenny to sign. This kicks off a little flashback montage about the time Kenny was caught giving a fake name, Tony Texas, to an STD clinic two days after he pitched in the Allstar game. Like Michael Vick/Ron Mexico, people started ordering Tony Texas jerseys as a joke. Eventually MLB made it so you couldn't buy a Tony Texas jersey. Kenny refuses to sign the jersey, but corrects the pronunciation of Tony Texas, it is Tony Tay-has. Guy offers him fifty bucks. Kenny - make it a hundred and you got a deal. Guy - I can do...seventy three. Deal. Kenny signs it. It was just an abrasion - Kenny Powers.

EXT. KENNY'S BROTHER'S HOUSE - DAY

Kenny and his brother's family cooking hot dogs and hamburgers.

Kenny admits to his brother that he didn't sell the jet ski. He is sorry that he lied. They have a heart to heart and really nail Kenny's problems on the head.

The sweet introspective moment is shattered when Kenny's phone goes off. The picture that comes up is of those fake tits from the opening. Kenny answers and offers to take her for a spin on the jet ski. Richard Branson style.
